foreword

Since joining the Moonee Ponds Bowling Club in September, 1924, the author considered that Bowling secretaries and organizers of bowling tournaments needed assistance in carrying out their duties, not only in open tournaments but in week day competitive play.

It was also imperative to evolve a system by which a positive approach be made to ensure a uniformity in making the draw which would overcome certain anomalies.

Common anomalies which have persisted over 100 years are as follows:—

1. Visiting teams from the same club to a distant venue are sometimes drawn against each other in early rounds.

No team likes to travel perhaps 100 miles to find itself pitted in the second or third round against a team from its own club.

Protection should, and can, be given.

2. Outside rinks are not evenly distributed.

Naturally it is — at times — mathematically impossible to avoid playing twice on outside rinks while at the same time using the minimum number of rinks required to accommodate the entry.

However, where it is mathematically possible, the draw should take care of such eventuality.

3. From time to time during a season the entry will recur of, say, 24 teams — and if no definite procedure is standardized each occasion 24 teams compete, a fresh draw is made.

To avoid this, reference should be available within seconds of requiring such information.

In view of the foregoing, it therefore became apparent that a form of standardization was absolutely necessary.

Because there are so many combinations of entries being used — say 6 entries to 100 entries and a one rink green to a nine rink green—such a task of standardisation could never be presented to 100% satisfaction.

However, the publication of "Scot-draw" Computer — 4, 5, 6 and 7 rounds and "Wes" Instantaneous — 3 rounds prior to knock-out play — provided perhaps 95% standardization but still left a gap between part perfection and perfection — the tournament organizer was still required to use his imagination and too much manual labor.

Often such helpful publications are dismissed offhand by the organiser who perhaps imagines his system is good enough.

The author is now proud to present in the following pages

"INDEXED ACTUAL SITUATIONS"

which occur throughout any given season of progressive play.

These situations eliminate any "working out" by the user.
